Part 2: Programme Overview

Graduates of the BSc (Hons) Sports Coaching programme have a comprehensive foundation in coaching principles, endorsed by the Chartered Institute for the Management of Sport and Physical Activity (CIMSPA) to the 'Coach' Professional Standard. As a result, they are prepared to thrive in diverse and evolving roles within the coaching sector.

Graduates have engaged with a range of coaching techniques, athlete development frameworks, and contemporary industry issues, including sport policy, sustainability, and the commercial landscape of coaching. Throughout the programme, students develop a personal coaching philosophy based on critical self-reflection and an understanding of ethical, sociological, and scientific considerations.

Practical experience is central to the programme, enabling students to hone skills in session management, safety, feedback, and adaptable coaching strategies. Graduates are also equipped with professional experience through peer mentoring, community partnerships, and familiarity with sector regulations, ensuring they are prepared for the multifaceted demands of modern coaching environments. This includes the development of transferable skills, such as effective communication, collaboration, and problem-solving, which are essential for working with others across diverse coaching environments.

Graduates have the opportunity to tailor their learning experience by choosing between two distinct coaching pathways: Community Coaching and Performance Coaching. This flexibility allows students to align their studies with their career aspirations.

Part 5: Learning, Teaching and Assessment

Learning, Teaching and Assessment Journey:

During each stage of their programme a student will be allocated an academic personal tutor.

Foundation Stage:

Assessment within the Foundation Stage had been designed to prepare a student for the assessment to come in following years. As such, it demonstrates a breadth of type and gradual introduction to the expectations for HE level study. Within the Foundation stage students are supported to adjust to studying at University through spiral induction and embedded academic personal tutoring activities that facilitate the development of skills essential to academic study and professional success.

Stages 1 to 3:

Individuals learn through different methods, leading to a range of teaching and assessment techniques being used throughout the programme. Theoretical lectures, practicals, seminars, debates and guest speakers from within the industry enhance the students' academic knowledge, whilst giving the student the opportunity to practice and develop applied skills needed for industry. A wide range of assessment types are utilised within the modules offering all students the opportunity to excel and develop core skills. Students will be assessed within a variety of coaching practical domains e.g. peer coaching, coaching children and coaching adolescents aligned to industry requirements.

A key feature of the BSc (Hons) Sports Coaching degree is the assessed portfolios, conducted at each year of study. Portfolios offer the opportunity for students to align undergraduate study to existing professional work programmes, which maximise the authenticity of their independent learning. Coaching learning portfolios involve coaches in individual and group reflection, the critically challenging act of thinking about coaching practice, and constructing (and communicating) a sense of the learning experience as a coherent developmental process. Such thinking and sharing are the linchpins of lifelong, active learning and every practitioner's professional development. Through investment in and accumulation of a coaching portfolio one might start to develop their ability to critically reflect and practice with purpose, thus continually becoming a more appropriately qualified practitioner. Therefore, the coaching portfolio assessments at each level will comprise of formally graded coaching sessions, formatively observed coaching sessions throughout the year, a personal reflective review of the coaching year including a detailed action plan, a review of coaching theory literature that has been applied to coaching practice; evidence of continual professional development (CPD) and a reflection of this CPD.

The assessment strategy also embeds opportunities for students to achieve practical 'employment ready' vocational skills applicable to Sports Coaching across different modules and levels of the programme. Simultaneously, opportunities to develop key graduate attributes such as critical writing, team working, communication and other interpersonal skills are embedded within modules across each year of the programme to ensure the student can appreciate the role of the coach in a variety of contexts. At each stage of learning students will be assessed on how the Sports Coach operates within an interdisciplinary setting, thus gaining a greater appreciation of their wider influence on others.

There will be a number of formative assessment opportunities to support students towards their summative assessments. Students will need to formatively evidence their coaching progression at each year of study. In order to support this, students can access academic and practical skills workshops through the Achievement and Success Centre at Hartpury.

This programme will be assessed according to the approved Academic Regulations.

Students registered on this programme will have access to the Hartpury University support services.

Updated to reflect changes to Programme Structure.
Material Alteration: Yes and is accompanied by the relevant course information document.
Rationale: Following the Sport PSR, all curriculum has been revised and updated. The new core bundles have been added, there are a Coaching for Performance strand and a Coaching for the Community strand. These two pathways have been informed by industry consultation, student voice and the sector. It was clear from industry consultation and sector standards that sports coaches are asked to specialise and tend to engage in professional development in either performance focused or community coaching. This is evidenced directly from CIMSPA where specific standards are held in either performance or community, and through Sport NGB's where coaches are asked to engage in either Performance or Community focused development. Finally, our students have frequently feedback that they would favour some autonomy of module choices that enable them to focus on either Performance or Community.

Part 3:

Programme Structure:

- Under the 'Awards' column, update interim descriptions to include new portfolio modules at each stage: Coaching and Teaching Portfolio (Theory, Pedagogy, Reflection) and review the interim awards developed.

Part 4:

Learning Outcomes:

- Add LO #7 to (A) Knowledge and Understanding: How sports science disciplines interact to improve performance – This is due to the curriculum review process and the addition of the three new modules at level 4, 5 and 6 across all degree programmes.
- Add LO #7 to (C) Subject/Professional/Practical Skills: Evidence continued professional development activities. – This is due to the curriculum review process and the addition of the three new modules at level 4, 5, and 6.
- Change LO #2 (B) Intellectual Skills from: Synthesise areas of sports science such as performance (notational) analysis and sports psychology to inform coaching practice and develop underpinning knowledge to Synthesise areas of sports science to inform coaching practice and develop underpinning knowledge – This is ensure the programme doesn't appear to only focus on Sport Psychology and Notation, as both of these disciplines are options on the programme. However the nature of syntesising areas of sport science takes place in the new core modules.
- Change LO #5 (C) Subject/Professional/Practical Skills from Plan, organise and deliver coaching sessions for children, youth athletes and adults as well as peers to Plan, organise and deliver coaching sessions tailored to the needs of a range of participants within the scope of practice. – This is the only learning outcomes that would need slight adjustment to map against the new Professional Coach Standard by CIMSPA.

Description of any Distinctive Features

The following changes are to update the programme against the industry standards in coaching and to recognise changes in campus to reflect new facilities.

Change from: The programme and module learning outcomes are mapped directly to deployment and employability standards described by National Occupational Standards. Furthermore, the design of the programme has been matched to current professional Governing Bodies and the Sport Coach UK (SCUK) Framework. For example, in line with the UK Coaching Framework the assessment demands of each practical module and the reflective portfolios that surround them will ensure that the programme will maintain flexibility in content and student experience that will allow them to remain innovative and current.

To: The programme and module learning outcomes are mapped against and acknowledge the CIMSPA Professional Coach Standard. For example, in line with the Professional Standard the programme requires students to complete a Coaching Portfolio at each year of study, in which the assessment demands require students to build on their practical coaching ability and justify their philosophical stance on their coaching practice and values. This will ensure that the programme will maintain flexibility in content and student experience that will allow them to remain innovative and current.

Change from: Two all-weather 3G sports pitches, grass pitches, sports halls, human performance laboratory and the training facilities (power gym, cardiovascular gym, rubber crumb, squash court, tennis court and sports pitches) within the institutions Academy of Sport are fully utilised to support the teaching and learning experience. Other facilities and resources which support the student experience include performance and notational analysis software, rehabilitation suite and use of audio-visual equipment. Students engage in practical coaching sessions, lab sessions and work-related learning to encourage the contextualisation of learning to real-world coaching and teaching practice.

To: Within the institutions Academy of Sport students teaching will take place in the following facilities in order to support the teaching and learning experience: Two all-weather 3G sports pitches, grass pitches, sports halls, human performance laboratory, biomechanics and performance analysis suite. Other facilities and resources which support the student experience include performance and notational analysis software. Students engage in practical coaching sessions, lab sessions and work-related learning to encourage the contextualisation of learning to real-world coaching and teaching practice. This includes working with local primary and further education sites and visiting external organisations to deliver specialist coaching, all of which is included within the curriculum.

Assessment Strategy

To reflect the addition of the Foundation Year, add the following sentence:

Assessment within the Foundation Year had been designed to prepare a student for the assessment to come in following years. As such, it demonstrates a breadth of type and gradual introduction to the expectations for HE level study.

In order to ensure the assessment strategy remains current and to do more justice by the programme:

Change text from:

Individuals learn through different methods, hence a range of teaching and assessment techniques are used throughout the programme. Theoretical lectures, practicals, seminars and debates and guest speakers from within the industry enhance the students academic knowledge, whilst giving the student the opportunity to practice and develop applied skills needed for industry. A wide range of assessment types are utilised within the modules offering students the opportunity to excel through written examinations and assignments, oral assessments and practical application. Students will be assessed within a variety of coaching practical domains e.g. peer coaching, coaching children and coaching adolescents to suit industry requirements.

A key feature of the BSc (Hons) Sport Coaching is the assessed Portfolios, conducted at each year of study. Portfolios offer the opportunity for students to align undergraduate study to existing professional work programmes, which maximise the authenticity of their independent learning.

In line with the institutions commitment to facilitating equal opportunities, a student may apply for alternative means of assessment if appropriate. Each application will be considered on an individual basis taking into account learning and assessment needs. For further information regarding this please refer to the VLE.

To:

Assessment strategy to enable the learning outcomes to be achieved and demonstrated:

Foundation Year:

Assessment within the Foundation Year had been designed to prepare a student for the assessment to come in following years. As such, it demonstrates a breadth of type and gradual introduction to the expectations for HE level study.

Levels 4-6:

Individuals learn through different methods, hence a range of teaching and assessment techniques are used throughout the programme. Theoretical lectures, practicals, seminars and debates and guest speakers from within the industry enhance the students' academic knowledge, whilst giving the student the opportunity to practice and develop applied skills needed for industry. A wide range of assessment types are utilised within the modules offering students the opportunity to excel through written examinations and assignments, oral assessments and practical application. Students will be assessed within a variety of coaching practical domains e.g. peer coaching, coaching children and coaching adolescents to suit industry requirements.

A key feature of the BSc (Hons) Sport Coaching is the assessed Portfolios, conducted at each year of study. Portfolios offer the opportunity for students to align undergraduate study to existing professional work programmes, which maximise the authenticity of their independent learning. Coaching learning portfolios involve coaches in individual and group reflection, the critically challenging act of thinking about coaching practice, and constructing (and communicating) a sense of the learning experience as a coherent developmental process. Such thinking and sharing are the linchpins of lifelong, active learning and every practitioner's professional development. Through investment in and accumulation of a coaching portfolio one might start to develop their ability to critically reflect and practice with purpose, thus continually becoming a more appropriately qualified practitioner. Therefore, the coaching portfolio assessments at each level will comprise of formally graded coaching sessions, formatively observed coaching sessions throughout the year, a personal reflective review of the coaching year including a detailed action plan, a review of coaching theory literature that has been applied to coaching practice; evidence of continual professional development (CPD) and a reflection of this CPD.

The assessment strategy also embeds opportunities for students to achieve practical 'employment ready' vocational skills applicable to Sports Coaching across different modules and levels of the programme. Simultaneously, opportunities to develop key graduate attributes such as critical writing, team working, communication and other interpersonal skills are embedded within modules across each year of the programme to ensure the student can appreciate the role of the coach in a variety of contexts. At each stage of learning students will be assessed on how the Sports Coach operates within an interdisciplinary setting (Modules: The Sport and Exercise Professional, The Sport and Exercise Scientist and High Performing Teams). Thus gaining a greater appreciation of their wider influence on others.

There will be a number of formative assessment opportunities to support students towards their summative assessments. Students will need to formatively evidence their coaching progression at each year of study. In order to support this, students can academic and practical skills workshops through the Achievement and Success Centre at Hartpury.

In response to industry feedback there has been a conscious move through the years of the programme to develop students' autonomy, confidence, critical and problem solving skills with increasing access and involvement with employers in assessment. This will provide students with 'live briefs' for assessment that will allow them to propose solutions to industry specific challenges and scenarios that they will face in their future careers in the industry. This will develop their industry ethos and show them that they can succeed in signposting their personal, academic and professional development. For example, being assessed coaching their peers, coaching primary school children across a set period of time, planning and delivering a 12 week block of coaching for further education students and supporting a fellow student through their coaching degree.

The assessment strategy has been designed to promote effective learning and engagement and to ensure that student knowledge, understanding, abilities and skills required for this programme can be comprehensively evaluated.

In line with the institutions commitment to facilitating equal opportunities, a student may apply for alternative means of assessment if appropriate. Each application will be considered on an individual basis taking into account learning and assessment needs. For further information regarding this please refer to the VLE.
